

Atlanta's John Marshall Law School is looking for a motivated individual to fill the full-time, non-exempt position of Admissions Counselor. The Admissions Counselor will assist with the implementation of the Law School's enrollment procedures, correspondence and contact with prospective students, applicants, and matriculating students for the J.D. Programs. The Admissions Counselor is responsible for the general administrative duties and responsibilities within the Office of Admissions.

Ideal Experience and Qualifications

The ideal candidate will have a minimum of a Bachelor's degree from an accredited college or university; with 2-3 years' experience in higher education admissions, marketing, event planning, or comparable customer service environment. Experience working with a law school a plus.

The Admissions Counselor will be responsible for, but not limited to following:

- Counseling prospective students via email, phone, and/or personal visits on the enrollment process
- Advising applicants on application progression, via phone, email, and in-office appointments
- Utilizing Unite to manage and report on admissions data
- Assisting with viewbook, marketing handouts, and other printed recruiting material updates as needed
- Overseeing tour schedules and class visits for prospective and accepted students
- Assisting with the development and execution of Prospective Student Open Houses, Accepted Student Days, and other on-campus events
- Traveling to represent AJMLS at graduate and professional school days, LSAC forums, job fairs, minority recruiting events, individual visits, and other outreach events throughout the year
- Collaborating with various departments (i.e. Financial Aid, Registrar, Student Affairs, Bursar) regarding the 1L enrollment process and orientation

Non-Discrimination Policy

Atlanta's John Marshall Law School, in compliance with Titles VI and VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Title IX of the Educational Amendments of 1972 (45 CFR 86), and Sections 503 and 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, and other best practices, does not discriminate on the basis of disability, race, color, religion, age, national or ethnic origin, marital status, veteran status, political affiliation or belief, gender identity, gender expressions, or sexual or affectional preference in the law school's hiring practices. Atlanta's John Marshall Law School values a diverse workforce and inclusive culture. We encourage applications from all qualified individuals. Applicants with disabilities who may need accommodation in the application process are welcome to contact Director Cynthia Crawford directly.
