DAY
CLASSES
WILL BE CANCELED.

During ATJ's visit, ATJ Director Rachel Rossi and public defense leaders and practitioners who do adjacent work will speak to law students about pursuing careers in public defense, criminal justice, and adjacent areas. Speakers also will address the critical need for public defenders, the future of public defense in their communities, the benefits and challenges of working in public defense, and best practices for building a sustainable and rewarding criminal justice career.

Atlanta's John Marshall Law School is one of a handful of law schools ATJ will visit as part of its national tour. On ATJ Day, we will have panel discussions, "table talks" for students to learn more about and interact with representatives from public defender offices and other criminal justice organizations, workshops, networking, and employment opportunities.

Employment/Internship Opportunities

This event will provide a unique platform for aspiring and current law students to engage with the Department of Justice, connect with professionals and organizations doing work in this space, and contribute to the ongoing efforts to promote equal justice for all. This event will also provide an opportunity to understand the multifaceted challenges faced by individuals from lower socio-economic backgrounds and explore strategies to overcome the barriers to justice they encounter daily in our justice system.

Participating organizations will have post graduate career opportunities, summer internships, and externships.
